Four names have been added to the Nebraska State Patrol Sex Offender Registry list for Hamilton County since January of 2012, five names have been removed and a couple of address changes reported.

Nebraska law provides public access to information about all offenders convicted of a sex crime which requires registration.

See this week's edition for a complete report.